ANOTHER FOR GARDNER.

Oscar Gardner duplicated his previous victories in this section last night at the Metropolitan club house, Jack McClelland, of Pittsburgh, being the victim. As was expected, a stomach punch did the work, and McClelland's knell was sounded in the tenth round. Until he went down he gave Gardner a rattling, hot argument, going at him in hammer and tongs fashion from the start, though a few stomach boogies in the last few rounds took some of his ginger. When Oscar lifted him with one over the heart then, Mac must have read his finish, but his knockout was so sudden that there is more than one spectator who thinks he laid down.

Gardner took lots of jabs and punches, and had to work harder than usual, but he had punches up his sleeve, and allowed McClelland to spend his force first. Still, no one expected McClelland's finish when it came.

His friends raised the cry of foul, claiming that Oscar struck him too low. To satisfy them, Referee Pearce held back his decision until two doctors were secured. One of them was in the building, and the Pittsburghers got another. Both stated that there had been no foul blow struck. No one else thought so, but the Pittsburghers grasped at a straw to save their money. And while it was a fair blow, not a few believe that McClelland deliberately quit. He could land frequently, but his blows didn't have the knockout ring for a man of the Gardner type.

It was as pretty a battle as one would wish to see. Clean and scientific from the start, and the only marks of punishment visible to-day will be Gardner's left eye. It is seldom that a contest opens so red hot from the start, and McClelland's pretty boxing enthused his admirers; but it wasn't a contest for points. Hence, McClelland wasn't in it at the end. His defeat was joyful tidings to East Wheeling, which went broke when he fixed Eddie Gardner's clock. About 700 people attended, and were well pleased. Referee Leslie Pearce was a splendid official, and gave them a contest of satisfaction.

The preliminaries consisted of three rounds by Leslie Pearce's boys, and six rounds by Eddie Gardner and Mark Kewin, of Pittsburgh. Kewin is the dead end of Jack McClelland, and put up a clever game. No decision was given, though so advertised, and the crowd clamored for one before it started, when Leslie Pearce announced that when Leslie Pearce's Kewin's work pleased the Wheeling sports.

At 10 o'clock, Oscar Gardner, accompanied by attendants, and an array of buckets, bottles and other ring paraphernalia, crawled through the ropes. In his corner were his brother Eddie, and Messrs. Arthur, Gray, Morgan, and Neer. The Pittsburgh rooters let loose when McClelland appeared, and their yells were returned by the Wheeling side of Otto Black, Jack Bennett, and another Pittsburgher. Referee Pearce announced that Yock Heninger and Loggen Campbell would challenge the winner. McClelland and Gardner shook hands, and the fun began.

Round 1. Mac lands first, a stiff left on breast. He repeats it, after some fiddling. Both spar fast. Oscar taps jaw. Oscar puts left on stomach. Oscar is confident, and assumes the defensive. Gong sounds and both shake hands.

Round 2. Oscar lands lightly on jaw, Mac slipping back on the ropes. Jack hooks left on body. They mix it, Jack holding his own. He swings twice on jaw without return. Again he reaches the face, and his rooster goes wild. Oscar jabs mouth. They exchange on the face. Another mix. Gardner finding the stomach. Jack jabs face. Very fast work. Pittsburghers jubilate.

Round 3. Oscar puts left on face, Jack jabs lightly, and then puts two more lefts without effect. Jack rushes without effect. Oscar places a bad one on mouth. Jack lands left on face, and then puts a good punch over the heart. He is doing good work.

Round 4. Oscar lands on face and body. Jack swings a return on jaw. Jack hooks left on breast. They mix it on the jaw and sends a smasher on the body. Jack puts a stiff right on the face. He is doing lots of work, but can't land strong over Oscar's guards.

Round 5. They start in at the usual lively rate. It's give and take. Jack jabs face hard and punches body with right. He jabs without return. Oscar catches him in a corner and swings both hands on the jaw. Jack is landed on, but not hard. Oscar swings hard on stomach. Jack keeps Oscar busy, but doesn't do much harm.

Round 6. Oscar swings on face twice. He swings left on stomach in infighting. Jack uses both hands well, hits face and then breast. Both are hurrying matters. Oscar staggers Jack with a left on the jaw and a stiff body punch. Jack rushes him to the ropes. They mix it at a terrific pace. Jack jabbing hard. He has Oscar's eye bleeding. Jack's reach counts.

Round 7. Oscar lands left on face. Jack throws Gardner to the floor. Oscar drives him back with a stiff punch on jaw. Oscar puts right on body. Jack returns on face. Jack swings hard right on jaw, and is punishing Oscar's face without return. They mix face punches.

One of the most eminent and skillful specialists in the United States is the author of a great home medical work that every woman, whether young or old, should read. That physician is Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. This is one of the greatest medical institutions in the world. In his capacity as head of this institution, Dr. Pierce is surrounded by a staff of nearly a score of able physicians. With the assistance of this staff of physicians, during the past thirty years, Dr. Pierce has prescribed for many thousands of ailing women. His "Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains 100 pages and over 300 illustrations. It contains several chapters free to women. A paper-covered copy is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to cover mailing, by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. French cloth binding at 50c.

Every woman should read it. It tells about a medicine that cures all disorders and irregularities from which women suffer. This medicine is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. In the "Medical Adviser" hundreds of women tell their experiences with this medicine. The "Favorite Prescription" is for sale by all good medicine dealers.

The True Method of Treating Diseases

Of the Nasal Passages, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs.

HAS BEEN FOUND

Cured by Inhalation, the Only Way Provided by Nature for Reaching the Parts Affected.

RELIEF ALMOST INSTANTANEOUS

Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Asthma

Successful at Once to the New Australian Dry Air Treatment.

That Catarrh, Bronchitis and Pneumonia are becoming more prevalent every year is admitted by all medical men, the treatments heretofore used proving of no value whatever, as only two per cent of all the people treated with sprays, douches, vapors and steamers have ever been cured. Understanding this, the great success of "Hyomei" is readily explained. Physicians who for years have been searching for some means by which the onward march of these dread diseases could be stayed are impressed by the method used in the New Australian Dry Air Treatment, and soon became convinced that it was the only way by which all parts of the air passages in the head, throat and lungs could be reached; furthermore, a few trials of "Hyomei" have proved beyond all question that this was the only antiseptic known which would destroy the germs of these diseases completely. From this time the use of "Hyomei" in the treatment of diseases of the air passages has grown with such astonishing rapidity that to-day there are thousands upon thousands of men and women throughout the country using the little pocket inhaler and being cured of diseases which have heretofore been considered incurable.

Remember, there is but one "Hyomei" but one Dry Air Treatment, and it is guaranteed.

Jack swings a nasty right over Oscar's dripping eye.

Round 8. Oscar puts left hook on body. Jack uppercuts him. He tries jabbing on Oscar's eye, but not very strong. He puts steam behind a few on the breast. Oscar is cool, and keeps following him up.

Round 9. After an exchange Oscar turns Jack around with a left swing on stomach. Jack punches a few on the face. They exchange body swings. Jack frequently finds face with left, and puts other hand on the body. Jack gets away from a bad swing. Oscar cheers his friends by another of his familiar stomach punches.

Round 10. Continued fast work. Oscar lands on stomach. Jack goes after him, landing several face taps. He uses his reach in uppercutting, but Oscar blocks. Then they start to mix it in Oscar's corner, both punching. Suddenly Oscar swings his left on the pit of Mac Clelland's stomach. That settles it. Mac drops on his back. Pearce is counting the fatal ten. Jack Bennett jumps into the ring, excitedly trying to get McClelland to rise, and next helps to drag him to his corner.

Then somebody backing the Pittsburgher cried "Foul." Another voice takes it up, and then another, until a crowd of the Spooky City brethren swarm around Pearce, telling him that McClelland was hit too low. Just to satisfy all parties, as is characteristic of him, Leslie suspended his decision until two physicians could examine McClelland. This was done, and they reported that the knockout blow wasn't administered in the place claimed.

CLEVELAND BALL CLUB

To be Transferred to Another City.

Lack of Support the Cause.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 30.—It is probable that no more league base ball games will be played in Cleveland, this season at least, after the series of three games with St. Louis, beginning July 7. President Robinson is out of the city now arranging to have the games transferred. The cause is lack of support upon the part of the public, and President Robinson's anger over the refusal of the club element to allow Sunday games. If he succeeds in transferring the games to other cities, it is probable that Tebeau and his Indians will be wearing some other uniform than Cleveland's next year.

Hair Hints

It is much easier to keep the hair when you have it than it is to restore it when it's lost. If your hair is "coming out" it needs instant attention. The use of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will promptly stop the hair from falling, and stimulate it to new growth.
